Details of advertisement for two JRFs in DST-SERB Project EMR/000928/2015:

"Applications are invited for two Junior Research Fellow positions in school of studies in chemistry, Pt Ravishankar Shukla University, Raipur, Chhattisgarh, under a SERB-DST Project entitled, "Evaluation of Biomass Burning Emissions to address Sources of Atmospheric Brown Carbon and Associated Impacts on Regional Climate".

1. Essential Qualification for JRFship: PG Degree in Chemical Sciences with minimum marks as per rules of the university. NET/LS/Equivalent exam are mandatory for JRF positions. In case, no applicant with NET/LS/Equivalent exam will turnout, then project fellowship recruitment processes will be taken into account from eligible applicants, if approval from SERB will be received. Additionally, experience on handling air pollution monitoring instruments will be given extra-wightage in selecting the candidate.
2. Duration of the project: Three years (Project start date is October 2018 and successful candidates will be eligible for stipend from the date of joining to last date of the project September 2021)

The selected JRFs will be deputed to carryout air particulate sampling in Raipur, Delhi, glacier region of Kahsmir/Leh-Laddakh and coastal regions viz Goa/Vishakhapatnam alongwith chemical analysis at Raipur, NEERI Delhi/Nagpur. It is expected that candidate should also be physically fit for extensive field work, proposed in the project.

Application along with resume and evidences of essential qualification and desirable experience and three references should reached on or before 20 January 2019 in following address (Applicants can also send their application with detailed CV along with all necessary and desired documents in the PI's email address):
